Generation Chart

Tuesday, January 27, 2015 1:18 PM

I print a horizontal hourglass chart from my genealogy software to this page. I use my surname grandparent as the starting person and go back 4 generations and down 2 generations for this chart. It fits on one page and gives an overview of my direct line.

Timeline

Friday, February 6, 2015 2:32 PM

Simple table to use as a timeline. I use MS Word for a more complex timeline and link to it here on this page. With just a click, the timeline can be updated in Word and the updated version will be inserted on the page. For help creating timelines, watch Anne Mitchell's (Ancestry Anne) Creating Timelines video on YouTube.

Evidence Evaluation Helper

Thursday, February 19, 2015 2:17 AM

This Evidence Evaluation Table comes from Thomas MacEntee's (Geneabloggers.com) Research Log which can be found here (Excel) and here (Google Docs).

Source	Geiger, Linda Woodward. "Guidelines for Evaluating Genealogical Resources," OnBoard 14 (May 2008): 14-15 via Skillbuilding: Guidelines for Evaluating Genealogical Resources (http://www.bcgcertification.org/skillbuilders/skbld085.html), accessed 13 September 2013.
Source Type
Unknown	Source is not known; use as a placeholder until Source Type is determined
Original	A source is original if it is the first written statement, photograph, or recording of an event.
Derivative	Subsequent copies are derivatives and may be reproduced by hand, machine, camera or scanner; they may be reproduced on paper, in microform, as photographs or digital images, or in any other medium that records the image whether transcribed by hand or technology.
Evidence Type
Unknown
Direct	Direct evidence is any fact that is explicitly stated.
Indirect	Indirect evidence is inferred from one or more pieces of evidence within the record. It isn't surprising, then, that some evidence within a record may be direct while other evidence is indirect.
Blended	A mixture of direct and indirect evidence (explain in Analysis)
Result
Unknown
Positive	The record supports the identity of the person in question or the relationships being proved.
Negative	The record is in conflict with other records of the identity of the person in question or the relationships being proved.
Clarity
Unknown
Clear	Information can easily be read.
Marginal	Information is not clear, is partially obscured and researcher must "guess" at words or letters.
Information
Unknown
Primary	A piece of information is primary when it is recorded by a knowledgeable eyewitness or participant in that event, or by an official whose duties require him or her to make an accurate record of the event when it occurs.
Secondary	Secondary information is supplied by someone who was not at the event and may include errors caused by memory loss or influenced by other parties who may have a bias or be under emotional stress.
Blended	A mixture of primary and secondary information (explain in Analysis)

Timeline

Friday, February 6, 2015 2:32 PM

Simple table to use as a timeline. I use MS Word for a more complex timeline and link to it here on this page. With just a click, the timeline can be updated in Word and the updated version will be inserted on the page. For help creating timelines, watch Anne Mitchell's (Ancestry Anne) Creating Timelines video on YouTube.

Evidence Evaluation Helper

Thursday, February 19, 2015 2:17 AM

This Evidence Evaluation Table comes from Thomas MacEntee's (Geneabloggers.com) Research Log which can be found here (Excel) and here (Google Docs).

Source	Geiger, Linda Woodward. "Guidelines for Evaluating Genealogical Resources," OnBoard 14 (May 2008): 14-15 via Skillbuilding: Guidelines for Evaluating Genealogical Resources (http://www.bcgcertification.org/skillbuilders/skbld085.html), accessed 13 September 2013.
Source Type
Unknown	Source is not known; use as a placeholder until Source Type is determined
Original	A source is original if it is the first written statement, photograph, or recording of an event.
Derivative	Subsequent copies are derivatives and may be reproduced by hand, machine, camera or scanner; they may be reproduced on paper, in microform, as photographs or digital images, or in any other medium that records the image whether transcribed by hand or technology.
Evidence Type
Unknown
Direct	Direct evidence is any fact that is explicitly stated.
Indirect	Indirect evidence is inferred from one or more pieces of evidence within the record. It isn't surprising, then, that some evidence within a record may be direct while other evidence is indirect.
Blended	A mixture of direct and indirect evidence (explain in Analysis)
Result
Unknown
Positive	The record supports the identity of the person in question or the relationships being proved.
Negative	The record is in conflict with other records of the identity of the person in question or the relationships being proved.
Clarity
Unknown
Clear	Information can easily be read.
Marginal	Information is not clear, is partially obscured and researcher must "guess" at words or letters.
Information
Unknown
Primary	A piece of information is primary when it is recorded by a knowledgeable eyewitness or participant in that event, or by an official whose duties require him or her to make an accurate record of the event when it occurs.
Secondary	Secondary information is supplied by someone who was not at the event and may include errors caused by memory loss or influenced by other parties who may have a bias or be under emotional stress.
Blended	A mixture of primary and secondary information (explain in Analysis)
