Generation Chart

Tuesday, January 27, 2015 1:18 PM

I print a horizontal hourglass chart from my genealogy software to this page. I use my surname grandparent as the starting person and go back 4 generations and down 2 generations for this chart. It fits on one page and gives an overview of my direct line.

Blank Research Plan

Tuesday, February 24, 2015 11:00 PM

Copy this page and insert below the person you are researching. Change name of page to something more descriptive of the Research Plan -- Husband & Wife [Surname] Marriage, Wife (Maiden) Birth and Parents, for example.

Research Plan for [Name(s) Surname]

What do you already know and where did the information come from?

- ✓ Supports conclusion
- ⊖ Conflicting information

Primary: The person who supplied this source had firsthand knowledge of the fact

Secondary: The person who supplied this source had only secondhand knowledge of the fact

Direct: The source plainly states the fact I have just entered

Indirect: The source suggests this fact but does not plainly state it. Proof will require better or additional evidence from other sources.

Evidence Evaluation Helper

Thursday, February 19, 2015 2:17 AM

This Evidence Evaluation Table comes from Thomas MacEntee's (Geneabloggers.com) Research Log which can be found here (Excel) and here (Google Docs).

Source	Geiger, Linda Woodward. "Guidelines for Evaluating Genealogical Resources," OnBoard 14 (May 2008): 14-15 via Skillbuilding: Guidelines for Evaluating Genealogical Resources ( http://www.bcgcertification.org/skillbuilders/skblid085.html ), accessed 13 September 2013.
Source Type
Unknown	Source is not known; use as a placeholder until Source Type is determined
Original	A source is original if it is the first written statement, photograph, or recording of an event.
Derivative	Subsequent copies are derivatives and may be reproduced by hand, machine, camera or scanner; they may be reproduced on paper, in microform, as photographs or digital images, or in any other medium that records the image whether transcribed by hand or technology.
Evidence Type
Unknown
Direct	Direct evidence is any fact that is explicitly stated.
Indirect	Indirect evidence is inferred from one or more pieces of evidence within the record. It isn't surprising, then, that some evidence within a record may be direct while other evidence is indirect.
Blended	A mixture of direct and indirect evidence (explain in Analysis)
Result
Unknown
Positive	The record supports the identity of the person in question or the relationships being proved.
Negative	The record is in conflict with other records of the identity of the person in question or the relationships being proved.
Clarity
Unknown
Clear	Information can easily be read.
Marginal	Information is not clear, is partially obscured and researcher must "guess" at words or letters.
Information
Unknown
Primary	A piece of information is primary when it is recorded by a knowledgeable eyewitness or participant in that event, or by an official whose duties require him or her to make an accurate record of the event when it occurs.
Secondary	Secondary information is supplied by someone who was not at the event and may include errors caused by memory loss or influenced by other parties who may have a bias or be under emotional stress.
Blended	A mixture of primary and secondary information (explain in Analysis)

Research Plan for [Name(s) Surname]

What do you already know and where did the information come from?

- ✓ Supports conclusion
- ⊖ Conflicting information

Primary: The person who supplied this source had firsthand knowledge of the fact

Secondary: The person who supplied this source had only secondhand knowledge of the fact

Direct: The source plainly states the fact I have just entered

Indirect: The source suggests this fact but does not plainly state it. Proof will require better or additional evidence from other sources.

Evidence Evaluation Helper

Thursday, February 19, 2015 2:17 AM

This Evidence Evaluation Table comes from Thomas MacEntee's (Geneabloggers.com) Research Log which can be found here (Excel) and here (Google Docs).

Source	Geiger, Linda Woodward. "Guidelines for Evaluating Genealogical Resources," OnBoard 14 (May 2008): 14-15 via Skillbuilding: Guidelines for Evaluating Genealogical Resources ( http://www.bcgcertification.org/skillbuilders/skblid085.html ), accessed 13 September 2013.
Source Type
Unknown	Source is not known; use as a placeholder until Source Type is determined
Original	A source is original if it is the first written statement, photograph, or recording of an event.
Derivative	Subsequent copies are derivatives and may be reproduced by hand, machine, camera or scanner; they may be reproduced on paper, in microform, as photographs or digital images, or in any other medium that records the image whether transcribed by hand or technology.
Evidence Type
Unknown
Direct	Direct evidence is any fact that is explicitly stated.
Indirect	Indirect evidence is inferred from one or more pieces of evidence within the record. It isn't surprising, then, that some evidence within a record may be direct while other evidence is indirect.
Blended	A mixture of direct and indirect evidence (explain in Analysis)
Result
Unknown
Positive	The record supports the identity of the person in question or the relationships being proved.
Negative	The record is in conflict with other records of the identity of the person in question or the relationships being proved.
Clarity
Unknown
Clear	Information can easily be read.
Marginal	Information is not clear, is partially obscured and researcher must "guess" at words or letters.
Information
Unknown
Primary	A piece of information is primary when it is recorded by a knowledgeable eyewitness or participant in that event, or by an official whose duties require him or her to make an accurate record of the event when it occurs.
Secondary	Secondary information is supplied by someone who was not at the event and may include errors caused by memory loss or influenced by other parties who may have a bias or be under emotional stress.
Blended	A mixture of primary and secondary information (explain in Analysis)
